Crews shine during snow recovery

By TOM MILLS
NEWS EDITOR

Just as Green County is recovering from the President's Day snowstorm, the forecast is for another round of wintry weather today and tomorrow with up to eight inches or more of snow possible.

With the experience of the recent storm, area residents will be more prepared to ride out the inclement weather with even more confidence in transportation and emergency crews after those agencies received high praise for their response to the previous storm.

Green County Judge-Executive John Frank, who took office in January, said he always knew that Green County roadways seemed to be in good order quickly after a snowfall, but the storm opened his eyes to the dedication that requires.

"Before I became county judge I had no idea what all went on," he said. "Just on Road crews from the state, county and city worked almost nonstop to clean up from the major winter storm that struck on President's day. After regrouping, they are again ready as another storm threatens today.

the county road crew alone, we have seven county road employees with 85 years of experience and if you let them they will work 24 hours a day nonstop."

Franks said that he had to make county road employees go home at times to get some rest and come back in the morning.

"Everyone of them worked at least 80 hours that week," he said. "Some worked 18-20 hour days without stopping and they covered every county road, all 400-plus miles, at least three or four times just trying to keep up with the snow."

The county has eight vehicles that can be used in snow emergencies and several county magistrates pitched in to help, including one whose business shut down during the storm.

"We had one magistrate, Tim Darnell, D-2nd, who came in and worked a lot of hours," Frank said. "His employer, Nally and Haydon, could not work during the snow and since he couldn't go to work he came in and helped us out. A lot of the other magistrates did their part too."

Frank said that county roadways are evaluated by the imminent danger level and expected traffic use on each to set priorities, but every county road is given attention.

The State Transportation Cabinet crew also worked around the clock to clear the county's 176 miles of state-

County property tax delinquency payment rate low

By TOM MILLS
NEWS EDITOR

A report Sunday that thousands of Kentuckians shirk tax bills is little reflected in Green County, local authorities said.

The final accounting on delinquent taxes occurs each April, so the total 2015 figures are not yet available, but so far, Green Countians are paying their property tax bills on time for the most part.

Taxes that were not paid by Dec. 31 are assessed with a penalty, but are not declared delinquent until they remain unpaid after April 15.

Green County Deputy Sheriff Tim Stumph said that through Monday, 471 property tax bills, worth $148,000, had not yet been paid. That is 1.67 percent of the total mailed in October.

Greensburg Mayor Lisle Cheatham said 100 tax bills, or just about 8 percent of the total city property tax bills have yet to be paid. On average over the past 10 years, approximately 34 bills go to delinquency each year.

Both the Mayor and Deputy Sheriff said that numerous people wait until they receive their income tax refunds to pay their property tax bills, so both expect a relatively small delinquency rate by April 15.

Green County Attorney Russ Goff's office becomes involved in delinquent county tax bills after the April deadline. The city does not pursue the delinquent bills, Mayor Cheatham said because of the relatively low amounts involved.

Former GC educator indicted in McCreary

FROM STAFF REPORTS

A former Green County High School teacher and basketball coach faces charges following an alleged indictment in another county in which he has coached and taught.

Toby Curry, who is an assistant Adair County High School basketball coach, was arrested Thursday before the Indians' District 20 tournament game in Campbells-ville.

Kentucky State Police arrested Curry, 38, following an indictment in McCreary County charging him with using a cell phone to induce a minor to engage in sexual acts. The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 21, 2014. He was indicted in the McCreary County Circuit Court on Feb. 23. Following his arrest, Curry was released on a $10,000 cash bond.

Curry, a 1995 graduate of Adair County High School, is an English teacher at ACHS.

Prior to returning to Adair County,

Curry was the McCreary Central girls' basketball coach from 2011-14. He was the Green County Dragons' boys basketball coach for four seasons from 2004-08.

Adair County School Superintendent Alan Reed said Curry has been placed on administrative leave.

"The indictment spells out alleged conduct that we would deem unacceptable by an employee of Adair County schools," Reed said in a press release. "This is a very unfortunate incident for us and I will be following the outcome closely."

Lady Dragons claim district title

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

Green County's Lady Dragons defeated the Caverna Lady Colonels 57-54 Thursday night in the championship game of the 18th District Tournament.

This is Green County's sixth district championship in the past nine years, all under the direction of Head Coach Chris Blaydes. The Lady Dragons have also been runner-up two times during Blaydes' 16 year tenure.

These two teams have had classic battles over the past few years. Green County had been eliminated from the district tournament in the two previous seasons by Caverna with both of those games coming in the opening round.

They had also faced each other three times this season with Green County owning a 2-1 margin. Green County won at home by two, then defeated Caverna by five in a double overtime game at Caverna before losing a one point heart-breaker in the finals of the 5th Region All A Classic.

Region tournament tonight at GCHS

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

The 2015 5th Region Boys' Tournament is scheduled to begin tonight at Green County High School to determine the region's winner at the State Tournament in Rupp Arena later in March.

Two opening round games are set for tonight with the other two opening round games planned for tomorrow night. Each game features a district winner taking on a district runner-up. The semi-finals and finals are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at GCHS.

Taylor County is the favorite, based on their record and on their Litkenhous rating.

They don't play until tomorrow night when they take on Bethlehem, the runner-up from the 19th District.

In tonight's first game at 5 p.m., Caverna takes on Elizabethtown. Caverna represents the 18th District and is the team to beat Green County in the finals of the district tournament. The Colonels were the number one seed from that district and enter the tournament with a 21-5 record.

Caverna is 4-2 against other teams in the regional tournament, having defeated Green County three times and Adair County once. They have lost to Bethlehem twice during the season.

The Colonels are on a roll, riding an eight game winning streak and they have won 11 of their last 12 games. They average almost 68 points per game while giving up 60 points per game.

Caverna is led by Mason Faulkner, a junior, who averages 30.5 points per game and just over nine rebounds. Devon Paul also averages 11.6 points per game for the Colonels.

Caverna's opponent in the first round game is Elizabethtown, at 17-9 and the runner-up from the 17th District. The Panthers entered the district

Alumni fund

To the Editor:

The GHS Class of ‘57 is asking all alumni from 1955 or before through 2010 to help create a GCHS Alumni Scholarship Fund to award a $1,000 scholarship each year to help a deserving student get a start to college.

School counselors and teachers will select the recipient based on academic records and financial need.

We need 20 to 25 alumni from each graduating class to donate $1 each year to make this possible.

We are attempting to make contact with class officers or class members who will serve as contacts for their class to help with this project.

Sara Murray – 270-932-5993, 118 Circle Dr., Greensburg, KY 42743, saramurray@windstream.net, is serving as committee Chair. Send donations to her.

Dwayne Ellis – 270-737-6301, dellis3@windstream.net, is working on communications with classes. Send e-mail contacts to him.

We hope to be able to award the first scholarship to a member of the Class of 2015. We think that this is possible with help from all classes.

Thanking you in advance.

Sincerely,
Dwayne Ellis

Senate diligent as legislative session's end nears

As we approach the final days of the 2015 legislative session, we have been working diligently to complete our consideration of Senate bills, while also vetting legislation that has passed the House chamber. We will begin considering several House bills this week and on Monday (March 2), the Senate plans to pass the first bill to receive the approval of both legislative Chambers.

A major focus for both chambers last week was the approach to combat heroin in the Commonwealth. The House's measure was presented in the Senate Judiciary Committee on Wednesday and our Senate Bill 5 was discussed in the House Judiciary Committee on Thursday, both in informational hearings only. It is imperative that we find common ground on this legislation and make an impact on the heroin epidemic that has plagued so many Kentuckians in recent years.

The Senate passed Senate Bill 110, which would create a new opportunity for Kentucky's students by translating education into jobs. The bill enables Kentucky high school juniors and seniors, who have earned scholarship money through the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES) Program, to take up to six hours of dual credit courses from an accredited college or an industry-recognized program offering certification or licensure in a skilled trade.

We also adopted a concurrent resolution that I sponsored in SCR 103. It directs the Legislative Research Commission to establish the Kentucky Workforce Oversight Task Force to study and develop recommendations concerning the benefits, investments, and funding of workforce education, which is estimated at approximately $900 million per year.

A Georgetown University Center on Education study found there would be 55 million job openings in the U.S. economy through 2020. Of this total, 24 million openings will be from newly created jobs and 31 million openings will be due to retirements of the baby boomer generation. The same study also found that as a nation, we will fall short in filling those positions by approximately 5 million skilled workers. We have to find a way to make sure Kentuckians have the proper skills and preparation for new jobs that will become available in the Commonwealth in the coming years.

Senate Bill 134 also passed, which would prohibit the purchase of Kentucky Lottery tickets over the internet with a credit card. Instead, the legislation would require customers to purchase a lottery-issued, prepaid card from a retailer. This measure would benefit local retailers who make a commission on lottery sales and also gives those business owners more foot traffic to retail establishments.

The Senate also passed measures to save money through efficient elections. Senate Bill 93 would move all elections of Kentucky's statewide constitutional officers to even-numbered years in conjunction with Federal elections. By doing this, state and local governments would achieve significant savings. Because the elections would coincide with Federal elections, voter turnout also would likely increase. Statistics prove that more voters go to the polls for Federal elections.

Senate Bill 186 passed which modernizes Kentucky's regulations on high-volume hydraulic fracturing also referred to as "fracking." The legislation would mandate energy companies to notify nearby landowners of any planned fracking process, clean up the site before abandoning it, and dispose of the chemicals used.

The chamber also passed Senate Bill 85, which would provide for a permanent restrain-ing order for victims of sex offenses that would go into effect automatically upon a conviction or plea of guilty for a violation. This legislation protects these victims by establishing that a violation of the restraining order would result in a Class A misdemeanor. The courts would determine the length of the actual restraining order and the circuit clerk would be required to notify the Law Information Network of Kentucky within 24 hours of entry of said restraining order.

All these bills now move to the House for consideration. If you have any questions or comments about the issues or any other public policy issue, please call me toll-free at 1-800-372-7181. You can also review additional measures the Legislature passed this week online at www.lrc.ky.gov.

House works through remaining high profile issues

While each legislative session is different, many of the bills the General Assembly considers every year tend to be grouped in just a handful of categories: education, health, public protection, economic development and streamlining government services.

All of them came into play last week as the House worked through the remainder of our high-profile bills and many others that are also now ready for the Senate's consideration.

One of the most far-reaching to pass would go a long way in reducing the significant long-term liability facing the

Capitol Focus

State Rep.
Terry
Mills

Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System.

As anyone who has followed this issue – or has a 401(k) – knows, the last decade has not been an easy one for retirement accounts. That has been especially true for the public pension plans for our teachers and state and local government employees.

Two years ago, the General Assembly enacted legislation designed to put the one for the state and local government employees on much firmer footing. We followed that up with substantial new funding during the current two-year budget and will continue that trend until the system is sound.

This year's House Bill 4 complements that work by authorizing what are known as pension obligation bonds for KTRS. The goal is to take advantage of the near-historic lows we are seeing for bond interest rates and the significant investment gains KTRS is experiencing.

During the most recent year studied, that system earned more than 18 percent. Its average annual rate of return over the last five years is nearly 14 percent, and its 20-year annual rate is 8.2 percent, or about double what the current borrowing costs would be.

Issuing $3.3 billion in bonds would be an unprecedented step, but we face an unprecedented problem. Many understandably worry about the additional debt, but the reality is that the long-term liability is a debt as well. The longer we wait to act, the more difficult it will be for the system, and ultimately the state, to meet our obligations a decade or two from now.

This becomes even more critical when considering that teachers do not receive Social Security retirement benefits because of the way the system was structured decades ago.

While this plan does not erase KTRS' long-term liability, it is designed to give us the time we need to get to that point. On top of that, the debt service payments would be covered by re-purposing money the state is already providing to KTRS.

As we wait to see how the Senate responds, the House took up another issue on Tuesday that is expected to receive a positive reception in that chamber.

The Ten Commandments

Thou shalt have no other gods before me.
Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image.
Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain.
Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.
Honor thy father and thy mother.
Thou shalt not kill.
Thou shalt not commit adultery.
Thou shalt not steal.
Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.
Thou shalt not covet.
(Exodus 20:3-17)

Doris Huff, 83

Doris Huff of Campbellsville, daughter of the late Richard and Sylvia Livesay Sallee was born June 5, 1931 in Taylor County and departed this life Friday, Feb. 20, 2015 in Campbellsville. She was 83 years of age.

She was a member of Hogard's Chapel United Methodist Church where she was active with the United Methodist Women.

The Dignity of Work

As the unemployment rate ticks slowly down in this country, we should be thankful. In most European countries, unemployment rates are still above 10% and in Spain it is over 25% and nearly 50% for those under 25 years of age. The ability to work and a job that matches our skills are great blessings. We all need to be useful, and when someone is deprived of this, they will almost certainly feel inadequate, or even downright useless. One thing which we can do when we are out of work, or even in our off hours after work, is to "sharpen the saw." Sharpening the saw includes honing our current skills, but it should also include broadening our range of skills, i.e. learning some new skills. Sometimes, even with all of that, we still don't find work. Perhaps in that case, we need to create our own job. Childcare or baby-sitting jobs aren't just for teenagers. And perhaps investing in a lawnmower would get you work in your neighborhood. A friend of mine who was trained as a structural engineer and recently lost her job was not too proud to go to work cleaning windows and painting in people's homes. Eventually she went back to work as an engineer, but in the meantime she exemplified an important lesson. All work is dignified if it has value, and if people will pay for it, then it probably has value. So do your best to find work that matches your skill set, and remember to sharpen the saw when you can.

— Christopher Simon

All hard work brings a profit, but mere talk leads only to poverty.

March financial aid tip: FAFSA importance

College students should take FAFSA verification process seriously.

The federal government requires colleges to verify the information submitted by many students on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

The FAFSA is the form used to apply for most federal and many state student aid programs. It asks detailed questions about the income and resources of students and their parents if the students are considered dependent students. The college or, in some cases, an agency working with the college will contact students to let them know if their data is being verified.

Students and parents need to take that process seriously, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority. Students chosen for verification cannot receive their financial aid until they have completed the process.

If students have decided not to attend a college that asked them for verification, they should let the college know so it will stop requesting information.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship, need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.

To find links to other useful education websites, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.

WKU Lady Toppers clinch conference title

WKU (25-4, 14-2) claimed at least a share of the title with their 88-47 win over Florida International, and UAB's win over Middle Tennessee, Saturday.

The Lady Toppers won their first title as a member of Conference USA as they are in their inaugural season in the league. It marks the 11th regular season conference crown in program history. The Lady Toppers can win the title outright by winning either of their games this week against Old Dominion or Charlotte.

In the FIU win, Greensburg junior Micah Jones had 11 points and seven assists. Larue County freshman Ivy Brown also scored 11 points, a career best.

Following the weekend trip to Florida, the Lady Toppers return home for the final two home games of the season, facing Charlotte on Thursday, at 7 p.m. CST and Old Dominion on Saturday at 2 p.m.

Select tickets for this week's final pair of Lady Topper Basketball games will be 25 cents in honor of the Lady Toppers' 25 wins on the season thus far.

Thursday is Fan Appreciation Night in E.A. Diddle Arena with other tickets available for just $5.

A better deal for Green Count residents awaits on Saturday, however, as WKU will honor Alexis Govan, Chastity Gooch and Ileana Johnson on senior night.

Thanks to WKU four-year letterman and W Club member Bill Moore, free tickets are available on a first come first serve basis to see Micah Jones in her pursuit of a championship. Call the Greensburg Record-Herald at 270-932-4381 for tickets.

WKU Director of Athletics Todd Stewart has also extended a unique offer for the remainder of the season.

"Our women's basketball team is off to a great start this season, but we need more people in the stands," said Stewart. "I guarantee you will have a great time seeing this team this year. Please buy a ticket and see this Lady Topper team. If you don't have a great time, send me your ticket stub and I will refund your money.”

In addition, free parking will be available for the remainder of the season in Parking structures 1 and 2.

Dragons open district with win

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

Green County Dragons opened district tournament play with a 65-61 victory over the homestanding Larue County Hawks in last week's tournament.

Green County and Larue County had split their regular season games. Each team had won the homegame with Green winning back on Feb. 6 on a last second shot by Matt Goff.

Both teams entered the tournament on a losing skid. Green County had lost their last four games while Larue had lost five of their previous six games.

ous six games. Colton Bush dominated the first quarter of the game as he hit five three-point shots in their first eight minutes. Levi Murphy had a basket and Dominique Compton hit a field goal and two free throws to help Green County open up a 21-10 first quarter lead, a lead they never gave up at any point during the game.

During the second quarter, Larue adjusted their defense but a balanced scoring attack helped Green County maintain their lead. Green County was whistled early for several fouls and Larue County started shooting free throws with just over a minute gone in the second quarter.

Chad Emmons, Isaac Landis, Murphy and Compton each scored two points in the second quarter and Bush hit yet another three pointer along with one field goal. Green County led at halftime 34-27 but Larue had cut into the lead, primarily behind the scoring of Caleb Sheffer.

To start the second half, Head Coach Keith Young came back with his original starting five—Murphy, Suratt, Compton, Bush and Emmons.

The teams traded baskets during the third quarter as five Dragons scored, including Bush hitting another three point shot. Green County led at the end of three quarters, 50-44.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Financial Focus

How Should You Respond to Higher Interest Rates?

How Should You Respond to Higher Interest Rates? The Federal Reserve (Fed) raises short-term interest rates this year, as many financial professionals predict, what will it mean to you? As a consumer, you might experience the "ripple" effects if long-term interest rates eventually follow suit, affecting mortgages and other loans. But as an investor, you might quickly feel the impact of a move by the Fed — especially if you own bonds.

In fact, the value of your existing bonds might drop noticeably if interest rates were to rise. That's because no one will give you full price for your lower-paying bonds when new bonds are being issued at a higher interest rate. So if you want to sell your bonds, you might have to take a loss on them.

Of course, if you were always planning to hold your bonds until maturity, you might not be overly concerned with falling prices. Assuming your bond issuers don't default — and defaults are rare among "investment grade" bonds — you will continue collecting regular interest payments until your bonds mature, at which point they will be redeemed at full face value. Furthermore, just owning bonds can help you diversify your portfolio, which might otherwise be dominated by stocks and therefore be susceptible to big swings in value. (While diversification can help reduce the effects of volatility, it can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss.)

However, it's still useful to be aware of the effects of rising interest rates on bonds of different maturities. Typically, when rates rise, long-term bonds will fall in value more than short-term bonds. So if you only owned long-term bonds, your portfolio could take a bigger hit than if you owned both short-and long-term bonds. Again, this might not be a big issue if you intend to hold bonds until they mature — but if your plans change, a drop in value in your bond holdings could be cause for concern. Furthermore, if you just owned long-term bonds, your money would be tied up, thereby not allowing you to take advantage of newly issued, higher-paying bonds.

You can help protect yourself against the potential negative effects of rising interest rates by incorporating a "fixed-income ladder" in your portfolio. You can build this ladder by purchasing fixed-income securities — such as corporate or municipal bonds — in various maturities. With your ladder in place, a portion of your portfolio matures at regular intervals. Consequently, you can benefit from any increase in interest rates by reinvesting your maturing bonds at the higher rate. And if interest rates should fall, you still have your longer-term bonds working for you. (Generally, longer-term vehicles pay higher rates than shorter-term ones.)

Even if the Fed does raise short-term rates in 2015, it doesn't necessarily signal the start of a trend. Interest rate movements are notoriously hard to predict — and you probably won't help yourself by trying to "time" your investment decisions based on where rates may be heading. But techniques such as a fixed-income ladder can work for you in all interest rate environments. So as you think about how you'll invest in bonds in the years ahead, keep this type of "all-weather" strategy in mind. It may be able to help you keep the "guesswork" to a minimum.

tournament as the number one seed but lost to North Hardin in the finals.

E-town has seen most of the teams in the tournament and are 4-3 against the potential opponents. They had defeated North Hardin in both of their regular season games but lost to North in the district championship.

Green County fans saw Elizabethtown in a Christmas tournament when Green County lost 89-65 to the Panthers. Elizabethtown has lost to Taylor County and Bardstown while beating Adair, Green and North Hardin twice.

The Panthers have now lost four of their last five games heading into the region tournament. They are led by Zach Patterson and his 17.6 points and 8.7 rebounds per game. Guy Williams scores 15.7 points per game while pulling down nearly 8 rebounds per contest.

The other two teams in the upper bracket are Bardstown and Adair County who are scheduled to play at 7:30 tonight.

Bardstown won the 19th District and Adair finished as runner-up in the 20th District at Campbellsville.

Bardstown has a 19-10 record but six of their losses came in tournaments during December. The Tigers have won eight of their last nine games.

The Tigers have only played two other teams in the tournament, Bethlehem and Elizabethtown. They defeated Bethlehem all three times this year and beat Elizabethtown in their only match-up.

The defending 5th Region champions bring a pretty balanced scoring attack into the tournament as they have five players who average more than five points per contest. Eljay Cowherd leads the team with 15.9 points and 4.2 rebounds. Keanu Young scored just over ten points per game and Jarrett Dennison pulls down 3.4 missed shots per game.

Bardstown's opponent, Adair County, is sort of a surprise in the tournament as they were the three seed in the 20th District but defeated Marion County in their first round game.

Adair County is 12-18 on the year and they have lost to the four teams in the tournament they have faced, including a 30 point loss to Taylor County in the district finals.

The Indians are led by Zach Hutchison who scores 12.5 points per game and Chance Melton scores at 12.2 points per game. Chance Melton also averages 6.9 rebounds and Corey Melton gets 4.5 rebounds per game.

In the lower bracket first round games, Taylor County takes on Bethlehem and North Hardin plays Green County.

Taylor County enters the tournament at 25-4 and their only loss to a Kentucky game is to Perry County Central, 78-70, in the Clem Haskins Classic in Campbellsville. They are 16-0 against the 5th Region teams they have faced this season and have played five of the other teams in the tournament.

The Cardinals are rated seventh statewide in the latest Littratings which came out this week. They have a potent offense, scoring 78 points per contest this year. They are led by junior Quentin Goodin's 21.5 points and 6.5 rebounds. Goodin is receiving a lot of attention all across the country from universities that are interested in his skills.

Brandon Berry scores 15.9 points per game and David Sloan is the only double figure scorer at 12.7 points. David Webster pulls down 5.3 rebounds per game.

The Cardinals face Bethlehem, a team they defeated 77-58 earlier in the season. The Eagles are 17-11 and were the number two seed in the 19th District. Bethlehem has lost four of their last five games, including a 56-52 loss to Bardstown in the finals of the district tournament.

They have defeated Caverna twice and Green County once during the season while losing to Taylor County and Bardstown three times during the season.

In the last game of the first round, North Hardin takes on the home-standing Green County Dragons. North Hardin is 23-8 on the year but they have won nine in a row, including a 52-37 win over Elizabethtown in the district finals. The Trojans has lost both of their regular season games to Elizabethtown.

The Trojans are led by Tony Jackson's impressive 17.3 points and 6.6 rebounds per game. Stopping him will be a key for Green County to advance in the tournament.

Green County, earned their way into the tournament by defeating Larue County.

Keith Young's Dragons have struggled at times this season and enter the tournament at 11-17. They have lost five of their last six games but looked very impressive in their win over Larue.

They have faced five other teams in the tournament throughout the season but don't have a win over any of them.

The Dragons are led by their prolific scorer, Dominique Compton who scores just over 25 points per game and is difficult to shut down by the opponent's defense. Colton Bush, who lit up the scoreboard with his three point shooting in the district, averages more than 10 points per game. Chad Emmons scores 9.6 points per game and the other starters, Corbin Suratt and Levi Murphy, average 7.3 and 4.4 points per contest.

Isaac Landis, a sub who usually sees considerable playing time scores 3.1 points per game while pulling down two and a half rebounds each contest.

Compton is also Green County's top rebounder at 7.2 rebounds per contest. He is followed by Chad Emmons with 4.3 rebounds and Bush's three rebounds per contest. Other players include Murphy and Alec Sluder at 2.1 rebounds per game and Suratt at 1.7 rebounds each outing.

While certainly some teams have put up impressive numbers during the season, everyone knows the regional tournaments are brand new chances for one of the teams to get hot and pull some upsets.

Deadline for news and advertising is 2 p.m. central time Monday.

Lady Dragons win title

The Lady Dragons jumped out to an early 10-0 lead over Caverna to start the game. Four three point shots in the first quarter—two by Laura Houk and one each by Mya Schrembs and Whitney Perian—combined with defensive hustle to give Green County a 23-15 first quarter edge.

The offense slowed down a lot in the second quarter, especially after Perian picked up her third personal foul with 6:16 to go in the quarter and Green County leading 27-17, but Caverna could not cut into the lead as Green County took at 33-25 lead into the locker rooms at halftime.

Perian had four points in the second quarter while Houk, Hannah Judd and Shelby Howell each picked up two points.

In the third quarter, Caverna cut the lead to six at one point before Green County stretched it out to a 10 point lead behind the scoring of Judd, Perian and Schrembs.

During the last quarter, Caverna mounted a rally, forcing some Green County turnovers and making it difficult for Green County to get the ball inbounds.

Green County didn't help themselves at the foul line as they missed five free throws in the final minute.

Caverna cut the lead to 55-54 before missing a free throw and Green County had the ball out of bounds. The ball came in to Ivy Hedgespeth with 4.7 seconds remaining in the game and Hedgespeth made two free throws to give Green County the 57-54 win. These were Hedgespeth's only two points of the game but could not have come at a better time.

Green County improved to 22-8 on the year while Caverna dropped to 18-10 and both teams will play in this week's 5th Region Tournament at North Hardin High School.

Green County was led in scoring by Judd's 15 points, including three free throws in the final quarter. Whitney Perian added 14 and Mya Schrembs had 12. Laura Houk added 10 points, moving her to 992 points in her career at GCHS. Shelby Howell had four points and Hedgespeth had two to round out the scoring for Green County.

Green County was scheduled to take on Marion County in last night's tournament action at North Hardin. Marion is the runner-up team from the 20th District and has a 13-14 record. Marion County defeated Green in a mid-December matchup 68-65 in overtime at Lebanon but Marion has lost four of their last five games entering the tournament.

Laura Beth Houk, Whitney Perian and Mya Schrembs were named to the 18th District All-Season team following their championship game of the tournament Thursday night.

Laura Beth Houk's defense helped slow down Caverna as Green County won their 18th District championship Thursday night. The win improves Green County's record to 22-8.

Hannah Judd's tenacious defense and 15 points led Green County's offense in their win over Caverna for the championship of the 18th District Thursday night at Larue County.

Boys win in first round

Two minutes into the final quarter, Larue had cut the lead to two, 51-49, but Green County didn't fold. A basket by Compton pushed the lead back out to four but a three point shot by Larue narrowed the margin to one. Bush two three free throws with 4:30 remaining in the game. Larue again responded with a field goal to close the gap to one when Suratt hit a basket with about three minutes to go in the game.

Another free throw by Bush and six points from Compton would seal the win for the Dragons, 65-61 and gave them a spot in the district championship as well as guaranteed them a place in this week's 5th Region Tournament at GCHS.

Larue County ended their season at 12-12 with the loss to Green County.

The Green County High School band provided entertainment during the game against Larue County.

Green County High School celebrated Senior Night prior to the start of the 18th District tournament at Larue County. Erin Jagers, Colton Bush, Levi Murphy and Luke Westmoreland, along with their families were recognized at center court. Traditionally, the last home game of the season is Senior Night but that game was cancelled because of snow.

Laura Beth Houk, one of two seniors on the Green County Lady Dragons team, was honored in ceremonies during the district tournament at Larue County.

Bryant Houk, grandson of Barry and Linda Houk of Greensburg, earned some face time on ESPN Feb. 23 when he was televised protecting a player during a post game interview in the aftermath of the Kansas State - Kansas game. Houk, a graduate assistant of event operations at Kansas State was on duty when Kansas State fans stormed the court following an upset victory over the then 8th-ranked Kansas Wildcats. One OSU fan, Nathan Power, was issued a notice to appear for disorderly conduct after he allegedly threw an elbow at Kansas forward Jamari Traylor as he was walking off the court after Kansas State's 70-63 victory. Houk is the son of Green County native Melvin Houk.

maintained roads. “While we performed snow and ice maintenance multiple rounds on each route, especially on primary routes, my best guess on total miles is between 850-900 miles total worked over the period when combining treating and plowing operations,” said Chris Jessie, KYTC public information officer with the District 4 office in Elizabethtown. Local businesswoman Linda Martel, who often crossed county lines in the past, said the effort by all road maintenance crews from the city, county and state, are very efficient, especially compared to other counties.

“The Green County road crews are spectacular,” she said. “If I was driving with my eyes closed, I could tell you when I hit the county line.”

Frank said others have noticed the same thing. “We get calls all the time from people from other counties bragging on our roads,” Judge Frank said. “And they have bigger budgets, more workers and more equipment than we do. It’s just a matter of wanting to do a good job.”

Even so, with the intensity and duration of the storm that dumped more than a foot of snow on the county in two waves, local volunteers played a major role in helping keep county roads clear and checking on neighbors.

“We had a lot of people volunteer to help, and a few who we paid to use their tractor and backhoes because without them, we wouldn’t be done yet,” Frank said of the county’s efforts.

Many citizens worked around the clock to clear driveways including a group from the Mennonite community who worked with the Greensburg Council on Aging to assist elderly residents.

Emergency agencies and volunteers with four-wheel-drive vehicles patrolled the roadways helping get stranded motorists back on the road and home. The Greensburg Police Department used its Homeland Security surplus humvee to tow stranded motorists and the Green County Sheriff’s Department loaned its humvee to the Green County Rescue Squad which used it and private vehicles to transport dialysis and chemotherapy patients and health care workers to medical facilities.

In all, the county used 500 tons of road salt, about half the supply on hand, Frank said.

“They are currently in the process of buying more to keep the stock up,” he said. “This one snow storm is likely to cost us $75,000. FEMA will pay part of that money back in a year or two, if they take a notion.”

The state highway crew at Green County’s KYTC Maintenance Facility used 449 tons of salt at a cost of $38,079.69 and 2,345 gallons of calcium chloride at a cost of $1,876, Jessie said. The crew has 2,165 gallons of calcium chloride and 781 tons of salt on hand with more on order which will nearly fill capacity.

Greensburg Mayor Lisle Cheatham said the city maintenance crew worked 327 hours of overtime and spread 75 tons of salt on city streets. The storm cost the city approximately $19,000 including costs for public works, police department and Green County E-911 Center overtime, he said.

Since the storm, departments have been working to repair equipment because dealing with snow removal as stressful on machinery as it is people, Frank said.

House gears up for final days of 2015 session

House Bill 152 is generally referred to as the “AT&T Bill,” and it largely deregulates the telecommunications industry at the state level. This would enable these companies to better focus on next-generation services like cell phones and internet-based calling.

There are built-in protections for rural areas. Landline services would be maintained, but the telecommunications companies would not be required to extend new lines. Rural customers that switch to new services but decide they want to return to their landlines would also have 60 days to act.

Several of the bills the House approved last week have been through our chamber before. House Bill 443, for example, would make it easier for state government to partner with private industry to accomplish a public purpose. This bill was vetoed last year over a dispute regarding potential tolls for a Northern Kentucky bridge, but the current bill does not contain that provision.

House Bill 60 would increase use of ignition-interlock systems, to better ensure those convicted of DUI do not drive intoxicated if a judge grants them this form of a hardship license. This legislation would also require the driver to be enrolled in a substance abuse treatment program.

House Bill 40 would expand the state’s expungement process to include most Class “D” felonies. This would enable those affected – nearly 175,000 people, according to Kentucky State Police – to request a court remove this crime from their record if more than five years have passed since the end of their punishment. As it is, many of these people are finding it difficult to find work or volunteer in their child’s school, even if their crime took place years if not decades earlier.

One of the new pieces of legislation approved last week – House Bill 168 – would restore the three-tier system for brewing, distributing and selling beer to customers, bringing it in line with the same set of rules governing Kentucky’s wine and distilled spirits industries.

These distinct barriers were enacted in the wake of Prohibition, but a dispute arose last year when Anheuser-Busch InBev bought a distributorship in Owensboro to go with one it has had in Louisville since 1978.

Smaller brewers worry that if large breweries like AB InBev continue buying up Kentucky’s beer distributors, they will have a more difficult time getting their product into stores.

This week is the last full one of this year’s legislative session, so the time to let me know your thoughts or concerns about the bills before us is nearing the end. If you would like to contact me you can email me at Terry.Mills@lrc.ky.gov or call 800-372-7181.

*Offer available for first lien mortgage purchase or refinance transactions on an owner occupied, 1-4 family residence for amounts between $15,001 and $417,000. The $499 closing cost special requires the following: purchase of lender’s title insurance from PBI Title, monthly principal and interest payments, escrow for taxes and insurance, monthly payments must be auto-debited from the account owner’s PBI Bank checking account, and PBI Bank checking account must be opened prior to loan closing if owner does not have an existing account already established. Loans are subject to credit review and approval. The $499 closing cost special does not include the required lenders title insurance, odd days’ interest, funds to establish escrow account, or the up-front mortgage insurance premium (MIP). As an example of available terms, a borrower with a credit score of 720 and a loan to value of 80% or less would receive a simple interest rate on a $100,000 loan with a 15-year term of 3.50% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 3.631%, which results in monthly payments of $714.88 for 180 months, excluding taxes and insurance. Rates are subject to change. Additional fees, terms and conditions may apply. Offer subject to change at any time. Mobile or manufactured homes and non-owner occupied properties are not eligible. Offer available for a limited time only and limited to the bank’s traditional lending footprint.

752 legislative bills under consideration

BY ROBERT WEBER
LRC News

The Kentucky General Assembly crossed another mile marker this week by reaching the deadline for the introduction of new bills in the House of Representatives. The Senate crossed a similar deadline on Feb. 13.

With these two deadlines in the rear-view mirror, Kentuckians now have a more complete view of the issues lawmakers will take up this year. A total of 752 bills have entered into the legislative process in the Senate and House combined, confirming what has been apparent to anyone who follows the news out of Frankfort: there are a lot of big issues on the agenda this year.

Both the Senate and House have already weighed in on one of the largest issues with each chamber passing its own bill to deal with the state's heroin epidemic. Both bills feature stronger sentences for dealers and more treatment options for addicts. But there are a number of differences in the finer points of the Senate and House bills.

Among the differences are the ways each chamber would punish traffickers. The Senate measure, SB 1, would make trafficking any amount of heroin a Class C felony. The House bill, HB 213, recognizes three levels of heroin trafficking, with escalating penalties based on how much traffickers had in their possession.

Another difference is that the House bill, unlike the Senate bill, would give local governments the option of establishing needle-exchange programs. Supporters say programs allowing heroin addicts to exchange used needles for new ones at local health departments have a proven record of curbing the transmission of diseases like HIV and hepatitis C. Supporters also say the programs that bringing addicts into health departments gives them an opportunity to seek help with their addictions. Opponents say needle exchanges enable addicts and send the wrong message about tolerance for illegal drug use.

Lawmakers are looking to bridge the differences in their anti-heroin measures in time to send a bill to the governor before a scheduled veto recess begins on March 10.

Issues taken up in legislative chambers this week include:

Teachers' retirement system. HB 4 would authorize the state to issue $3.3 billion in bonds to reduce the $14 billion unfunded liability of the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System. The legislation passed the House on a 62-31 vote and has been sent to the Senate for consideration.

Students. SB 10 would allow high school juniors and seniors to use Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship money during high school. Student earning college credit through dual-credit courses could use KEEES money they've earned to pay for up to six college credit hours. SB 10 has been approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

Gambling. SB 28 would make it clear in the law that it's illegal for so-called Internet Cafes to sell Internet access to play computer-based, casino-style games, or sweepstakes, in which customers can win cash prizes. The bill passed the Senate and has been sent to the House.

Elections. SB 93 would let Kentucky voters decide on a proposed constitutional amendment that would move Kentucky's elections for governor to even-numbered years. Elections would also be moved to even-numbered years for the Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, Attorney General, Secretary of State and Commissioner of Agriculture. SB 93 was approved by the Senate and has been sent to the House for consideration.

Debt. SB 94 would limit general fund supported debt to 6 percent of general fund revenue. The road fund is not included, agency debt is not included and there is a provision that would allow the governor to declare a state of emergency to go over the debt limit. The bill was approved in the Senate and sent to the House.

Early childhood development. Early child care and education programs would be mandated to follow a state quality-based rating system under House Bill 234. The bill was approved in the House and delivered to the Senate for consideration.

Public-private partnerships. House Bill 442 would allow state government to partner with private companies on major building projects. The bill was approved in the House and has been sent to the Senate for consideration.

The annual Youthfest, which was scheduled to be held this upcoming weekend, March 6-8, has been changed to April 24-26 due to possible winter weather conditions.

This year's event, themed, "Anchored," is set to kick-off Friday, April 24 at 6 p.m. CST and continue April 25 and 26 taking turns at Bethlehem Baptist Church, Greensburg Baptist Church and Green County Middle School.

More information will appear in a future edition of the Record-Herald.

Licenses support fishing

BY LEE MCCLELLAN
KENTUCKY AFIELD

It is the time of year anglers must make an investment in their future fishing. Current 2014-2015 fishing licenses expire this weekend. If you plan to fish on or after March 1, you'll need a new fishing license.

A Kentucky resident annual fishing license sets you back $20. This isn't as cheap as it was 20 years ago, but it is still a great bargain for all you receive in return.

"We do not receive General Fund state tax dollars for our funding," said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Our funding is reliant on license sales and the federal monies that go along with them. The anglers of Kentucky fund the fisheries division."

For each fishing license sold, the federal government sends monies back to Kentucky from excise taxes on fishing tackle, trolling motors, electronic sonar units for boats, commonly called fish finders, and boat motor fuels.

The Federal Aid in Sport Fish Restoration Act is the legislation empowering the collection of monies and dispersal back to the fisheries divisions of state wildlife agencies across the country.

"It is a user pay and user return system," Ross said. "The anglers pay the money up front and they get it back in what our fisheries division does to benefit fish populations across Kentucky." Funding from fishing license sales powers the annual stocking of over 5.5 million fish in Kentucky waters.

These monies fund the operation of the two hatcheries that provide fish for the Fishing in Neighborhoods stockings of bass, catfish, bluegill and trout.

"Without these hatcheries, several popular sport fish species such as hybrid striped bass wouldn't exist in Kentucky," Ross said.

Funding from the sale of Kentucky fishing licenses facilitated the planning and construction of Cedar Creek Lake, Kentucky's only lake managed for trophy largemouth bass.

Not everyone has to purchase a fishing license. Kentucky residents fishing a pond or lake on land they own don't need a fishing license, but their guests, and even blood relatives, must have a valid fishing license.

Those who live outside of Kentucky, but own land here, must still purchase a fishing license.

Those who intend to keep trout or plan to fish the Cumberland River below Wolf Creek Dam must purchase a $10 trout permit. Kentucky residents certified as disabled or those 65 or older get their fishing license and trout permit with the $5 senior/disabled license.

Remember to buy your fishing license if you plan to fish after this coming Sunday, March 1. You may purchase your fishing license in person at tackle stores, in the sporting goods section of major department stores and at county clerk offices across Kentucky. You may also buy a fishing license 24 hours a day by calling 1-877-598-2401 or online at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov.

Alumni scholarship project underway

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

The GCHS Alumni Scholarship project is beginning to develop with a goal of finding 20 to 25 members of each class from 1955 or before until 2010 who will donate one dollar each year to the Scholarship fund. This will provide a $1,000 scholarship for a deserving senior who will be selected by the counselors and teachers.

Some alumni are choosing to pay for multiple years in advance, for example $20 for 20 years.

Donations can be made to: Sara Murray, 118 Circle Dr., Greensburg. Her phone number is 270-932-5993.

If you are willing to share contact information with classmates and friends, please e-mail Dwayne Ellis at dellis3@windstream.net or call at 270-737-6301.

When the class of '57 met for their 57th Reunion Lunch June 2014, a classmate suggested that a GHS/GCHS Alumni Scholarship fund be established to provide a $1,000 scholarship each year to a deserving senior based on academic record and financial need with school counselors and teachers selecting the recipient.

Dwayne Ellis told classmates about the alumni in Meade County, a one-high school system similar to Green County whose alumni have been giving a $1,000 scholarship for ten years or more. Alumni believe that there are enough alumni who appreciate their home community and school and will support this project to help one senior each year from GCHS.

Sara Murray agreed to Chair the project and will be assisted by Tommy VanArsdale in handling the donations. Dwayne Ellis will work on communications to connect with alumni from each class from 1955 or before through 2010.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

Contact: Alicia Polton, Executive Director

Lake Cumberland Community Action Agency, Inc. will be having their semi-annual community meeting for the purpose of conducting Needs Assessment Surveys.

This meeting will be held:

Date: March 11, 2015

Time: 10 a.m. CST

Location: 203 West Court House St., Greensburg, KY (Courthouse basement)

Local residents are asked to participate in the annual needs assessment and to share past success stories. LCCAA sponsors the event annually so that the entire community can join in conversation about the realities of living in poverty and how individuals, families, and communities can become more self-sufficient. It is also an opportunity to make the public aware of the array of programs and services provided by the local Community Action Agency office.

Community Action changes lives, embodies the spirit of hope, and improves communities. LCCAA is one of a network of nearly 1,000 community based nonprofit and public organizations throughout the United States originally established in 1964 to fight Americas War on Poverty.

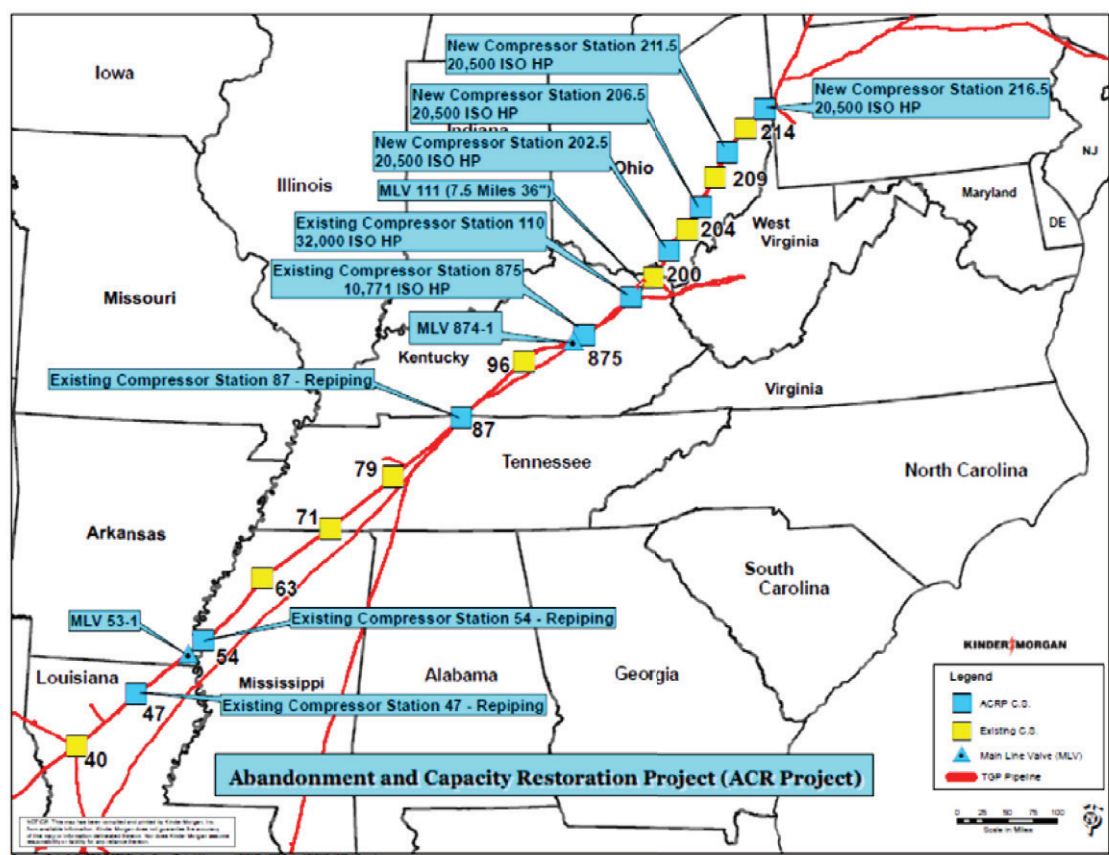

For more information please contact:

Lisa Jo Allen, Outreach Specialist for Green County at (270) 932-7324 or Alicia Polston, Executive Director at (270) 343-4600.

This project is funded, in part, under a contract with the Cabinet with funds from Community Services Block Grant of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Notice of Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, L.L.C.'s Proposed Abandonment and Capacity Restoration Project

Take notice that on February 13, 2015, Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, L.L.C. ("Tennessee") filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("Commission") an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity ("Application"), pursuant to Sections 7(b) and 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, to abandon by sale certain mainline facilities, located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Ohio, and to construct, install, modify, operate, and maintain certain mainline facilities located in Ohio and Kentucky, as described in more detail below (referred to herein as the "Abandonment and Capacity Restoration Project" or the "Project"). The Commission assigned Docket No. CP15-88-000 to the certificate proceeding. Tennessee, a subsidiary of Kinder Morgan Inc., is an interstate natural gas transmission pipeline company that is subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. Tennessee has been in operation since 1943 and its principal office is located at 1001 Louisiana Street, Houston, Texas 77002.

The facilities to be abandoned in place consist primarily of one of multiple looped parallel pipelines that comprise approximately 964 miles of older vintage, mainline pipeline facilities between Natchitoches Parish, Louisiana, and Columbiana County, Ohio (these facilities are referred to herein as the "Abandoned Line"), as more completely described in Tennessee's Application. In order to replace the capacity that would otherwise be lost by abandoning the Abandoned Line, Tennessee proposes to construct and operate: (i) approximately 7.6 miles of new pipeline looping in Carter and Lewis counties, Kentucky; (ii) four new compressor stations, all in Ohio; (iii) additional compression at one existing compressor station in Kentucky; and (iv) additional compression at one compressor station proposed in a separate docket (Docket No. CP15-77-000) to be constructed by Tennessee in Kentucky (collectively, referred to herein as the "Replacement Facilities"), as more completely described in the Application. The construction of the Replacement Facilities will allow Tennessee to maintain service to its existing firm customers. Tennessee proposes to commence construction of the Replacement Facilities and begin the reconfiguration of its system by late first quarter of 2016.

Tennessee is requesting that the Commission issue a final order granting the requested authorizations by February 15, 2016. The issuance of the requested authorizations by that date will allow Tennessee to construct the Replacement Facilities and to carry out the activities necessary to abandon the Abandoned Line facilities by late 2017. During construction, restoration, and mitigation activities for the Project, Tennessee will follow the Commission's Upland Erosion Control, Revegetation and Maintenance Plan (May 2013 version) and the Commission's Wetland and Waterbody Construction and Mitigation Procedures (May 2013 version).

If you are interested in reviewing Tennessee's Application pertaining to the Project, an electronic copy of the public version of the complete Application is available for public viewing at the locations listed on the Project's website, available at the following address: http://www.kindermorgan.com/content/docs/FERC\_Viewing\_Locations.pdf.

Additionally, a copy of Tennessee's Application is available for viewing on the Commission's website at www.ferc.gov. Also available on this website is the Commission's most recent landowner pamphlet entitled "An Interstate Natural Gas Facility on My Land? What Do I Need To Know?" The pamphlet includes the FERC's summary of landowner rights at FERC. You may reach the Commission through its website or by calling the Commission's Office of External Affairs at (866) 208-3372.

Should your property be directly affected by this Project, a representative of Tennessee will contact you in the near future to discuss the Project. Tennessee has mailed notices to landowners directly affected by this Project, to landowners whose property abuts the Project, and to local government entities. If you have not received such a notice, your property is most likely not affected.

Tennessee strives to be a good neighbor as it provides a safe, clean, and reliable source of energy to the nation's consumers and industry. Questions concerning this Project may be directed to Tennessee at 1-800-622-4481.

Forcht Bank is 20/20'S newest Platinum Partner

FROM STAFF REPORTS

The City of Greensburg and Greensburg 20/20, would like to announce Forcht Bank as the newest Platinum Partner for 2015. There are currently 16 events scheduled through 2015 as part of the Greensburg 20/20 initiative. According to Greensburg Mayor Lisle Cheatham, "These events would not be possible without the support of our corporate partners. Partnerships with our local businesses will help to make traditional Greensburg community events better than ever."

Greensburg 20/20 celebrated tremendous success in its inaugural year. In 2014, Greensburg saw larger crowds and an increased number of events than in years passed. Businesses partnering with Greensburg 20/20 will mean that Forcht Bank will receive recognition as an event sponsor in all Greensburg 20/20 events throughout 2015. Traditional events, like the annual Jammin' on the Square four-part summer concert series, the three-part Kentucky Humanities Council Chautauqua Dinner Theatre series and two performances by the Green County Historical Society in October will boast the names of all our Greensburg 20/20 Partners. Greensburg will host several new outdoor adventure events this year in addition to the third-annual Battle Over Green River Disc Golf Tournament held at the Greensburg Fitness & Disc Golf Park. As a new partner for 2015, Forcht Bank is helping Greensburg 20/20 to grow and become an even bigger success. "We appreciate Forcht Bank and all they do for the community already. Becoming a Platinum Partner with Greensburg 20/20 is just another example of their commitment to investing in Greensburg and Green County to make it a more livable community for everyone," stated Mayor Cheatham. "We are proud to be a part of the positive impact that Greensburg 20/20 has on our community," said Forcht Bank's area Market President Tom Noe. For additional information about Greensburg 20/20, how to become a corporate or patron sponsor or information on upcoming 2015 events please contact Ivy Stanley at Greensburg City Hall or visit the community calendar at Greensburg's website, www.greensburgonline.com.

Kynect opens special enrollment period through April

By AL CROSS

KY HEALTH NEWS

The state health-insurance exchange, Kynect, is reopening enrollment in March and April to allow signups by Kentuckians who discovered that not having health insurance means they have to pay a federal tax penalty.

"We believe that many Kentuckians did not realize those who do not obtain health coverage could face significant penalties when they file their taxes," Gov. Steve Beshear said in a news release. And given that the personal risks of not having health coverage are even greater than the penalties, we have decided to continue a special enrollment period to allow those individuals more time to sign up."

The penalty for not having health coverage last year is 1 percent of income, or $95 for each adult in the household and $47.50 for each child, whichever is greater. For 2015, the penalty will be 2 percent or $325 for each adult and $167.50 for each child.

"Individuals taking advantage of this special enrollment period will still owe a fee for any months they were uninsured and did not qualify for an exemption in 2014 and 2015," the news release warns. "This special enrollment period is designed to allow such individuals the opportunity to get covered for the remainder of the year and avoid additional fees for 2015."

If your household income is between 100 and 138 percent of the federal poverty level, which makes you eligible for expanded Medicaid, you will still be charged a penalty if you don't sign up.

Medicaid enrollment is open year-round, but the special enrollment for private insurance will end April 30.

New York city surrenders to cold

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

It's been a bitterly cold winter in the Northeast, so cold that the Finger Lakes city of Ithaca, New York is sending prospective tourists south to Florida, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens.

"We're in upstate New York and used to snowy winters and cold weather. But our audience is from New Jersey, Boston and New York City and those folks are frozen in place and, like us, dreaming of palm trees and someplace warm," said director Bruce Stoff, of the local Visitors' Bureau.

The bureau's Web site recently posted a pop-up bulletin telling tourists who might be thinking of traveling to the usually idyllic tourist destination: "That's it. We surrender. Go to Key West instead." Now, that's cold.

Lemon Breakfast Cake

What You Need

- 1 box lemon cake mix
- 1 box instant cheesecake pudding mix (4 serving size)
- 1 c ricotta cheese (whole milk)
- 1/2 c vegetable oil
- 4 large eggs, beaten
- 2 tsp lemon extract
- 1/2 c sugar
- 2 tsp ground cinnamon

Directions

- Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly spray a 13" x 9" baking dish with non-stick cooking spray.
- In a large bowl, beat together cake mix, pudding mix, ricotta cheese, oil, eggs and lemon extract on medium speed for 2 minutes.
- Pour into prepared pan.
- Mix together sugar and cinnamon, sprinkle over cake batter. Swirl sugar/cinnamon mixture into batter.
- Bake for 35- 45 minutes, or until a toothpick comes out clean.
- Allow to cool slightly, cut into squares.
